

ABSTRACT: Future Directions in Solar Physics

I will discuss scientific opportunities for space-based solar physics instruments in the coming decade and their synergy with major new ground-based telescopes. I will also discuss how small satellites may complement larger solar physics missions.